READING

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D to indicate the correct word or phrase that best fits each of the numbered blanks.

Living with grandparents can sometimes be a little (1) _____ annoying, but it is popular in our society where three generations live under the same roof. What can each member of the family do to (2) _____ reduce these differences?

If you're the elder, it is easy to expect the respect of everyone else in the household. As the head of the family, tap on your wealth of experience and imagine yourself (3) _____ in your 20s back in your day. Thinking from this perspective is likely to give you a better understanding on why young people act the way they do.

For the middle generation, when you are (4) _____ stuck between your parents and your child, it gets tiring to act as the bridge between them. Having a teenager at home with seniors can sometimes be challenging. Teenagers go through the phase of experimenting with new looks and behaviours to discover themselves.

Ultimately, communication is always the key to avoiding (5) _____ arguments. So, communicate openly and frequently with your family.
