III. Read the following passage. Decide if the statements from 17 to 20 are True or False, and choose the correct answer (A, B, C, or D) for questions 21 and 22. (1.5pts)

Decision-making plays an important role in leading a happy and successful life. Good decisions can lead to benefits while poor choices can result in losses. For those who agonize over every possibility of their choices, they get exhausted from decision fatigue. Charles Darwin is a typical example. In 1838, the English naturalist was on the horns of dilemma – whether to get married or devote his life to science.

To facilitate the process, Darwin made a list of the expected pluses and minuses of marriage. On the left- hand side, he tried to imagine what marital life would be like (“having a constant companion”, and “the likelihood that children would be part of the package”). On the right-hand side, he tried to imagine what it would be like not to marry (“not forced to visit relatives and to bend in every trifle”). Most of Darwin’s list seemed to point him toward a life of staying single. Yet he decided to marry, seemingly putting his sober list of pluses and minuses aside.

Why did Darwin ignore the calm, rational calculus he laid out? Obviously, as social beings, we want to belong to something larger than ourselves. The decisions we made do not just lead to good days or bad days. They define us and determine who we are, who we might aspire to become and who we might come to be. Darwin accepted that daily happiness was less important how he thought he should live his life, and who and what he wanted to become.

From Darwin’s lesson, the advice is to spend less time trying to figure out the best path to get to where you want to go and spend more time thinking about where you want to go in the first place.

(Adapted from How to Make a Decision When There’s No “Right” One by Russ Roberts)

TASK 1: Decide whether the statements are True or False

17. Some people are worn out by overthinking their decisions.
18. Charles Darwin jotted down the pros and cons of getting married before coming to the final decision.
19. His decision was to stay single until his death.
20. It can be inferred that we should listen to our emotions when making a tough choice

TASK 2: Choose the correct answers

21. What serves as the best title for the passage?

- A. Marriage – A Sacred Choice You’ve Ever Made.
B. Charles Darwin – Famous English Naturalist.
C. “Head Choice” versus “Heart Choice”.
D. Decision-making in Business.
