Dear Festival Committee,

I am writing about the Milford Nature Festival which took place last week.

I went to the festival with my two children, four and six. The information on the festival website said, 'There is entertainment for all the family.'

My children love face painting. Amy wanted to be a tiger and Jenny wanted to be a monkey.

They had pictures of the animals to show to the face painter. But there was only one face painter, and there was no other entertainment for young children. We waited for an hour and then left the line. We went to get something to eat.

My children said their food was good, but the meals were very expensive. They cost more than their tickets for the festival.

Finally, the festival website said, 'There is a nature walk at 3.00, with information about all the flowers and trees from a plant scientist.' There was nothing else for the children to do, so we went on the walk. But the person who did the walk did not know anything about the flowers and trees in the park.

I paid $6 for two child tickets. I would like you to give me the money back.

With best wishes,

Mrs. Williams

A. There are many problems with pollution in the world, so it is hard to know where to start. For example, I read that the gases from cars in city centers damage the health of children. But the worst thing for me is plastic. We should stop using so much, because there is no way to recycle most of it. The waste goes into the land and doesn't change, or it goes into rivers and oceans and harms or kills fish.

Noura

B. Did you know that 10% of the world's population do not have clean water to drink? That's terrible! Dirty water carries diseases, and drinking it every day is very bad, especially for children. Even in places with clean water, local people sometimes cannot get it, because it all goes to tourist hotels.

Monique

C. There is a problem which only started 20 or 30 years ago. At one time, people bought clothes and wore them for months or even years. Now, people buy cheap clothes in the latest fashion and only wear them two or three times. They throw them away, and they go into the trash in the ground. She put on her warm jacket and trousers. She had special glasses to stop the sunlight that came from the snow hurting her eyes. Then she made sure her skis were on correctly.

When Sarah's ski instructor, Kurt, gave Sarah a piece of red rope 10 meters long and said, 'Put this on your belt,' she laughed and said, 'Why do I need that?' Her instructor did not laugh. 'It's the most important piece of equipment for any skier. It may be the difference between life and death.'

Kurt explained that the area had a lot of big avalanches. Sarah said, 'I know, but if there is a problem, you will save me!'

Kurt explained that sometimes instructors and learners lose each other on the mountain. 'You can't ski faster than an avalanche,' he said. Sarah took out her cell phone and said, 'I can call you ... or somebody ... on this.' Kurt smiled and said, 'Sometimes cell phones don't work when you are under four meters of snow.
