

GRADE 10 - UNIT 9

Question 16.

c. Pollution is a big problem. We should make new laws to stop factories from polluting our air and water. Also, finding clean energy sources like solar power, wind power, and water power is important.

e. Thank you once again for your letter. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

b. Thank you for your letter. I agree that we need to protect our environment.

f. Sincerely,

a. Dear Mr. Smith,

d. Deforestation is another issue. Cutting down too many trees affects the oxygen supply and temperature regulation on our planet. Planting more trees and reducing cutting them down is crucial.

Question 17.

a. So what can we do? There are many things we can do to help the environment. Here are four simple ideas: Save energy. Turn off lights and TVs when you're not using them. Don't waste water. Have a shower instead of a bath. Travel by bike or on foot instead of by car. Recycle paper, glass, and plastic.

b. In conclusion, if we want to save our planet, we have to change our behavior. We can't continue to pollute the air, water, and soil. We can't continue to destroy forests and kill animals. It's time to act now.

c. We all know that the environment is in danger. Pollution is a big problem and it's getting worse. We're also endangering many species of animals and plants. Deforestation is another serious problem. In some parts of the world, we're cutting down trees too quickly. This is bad for the planet.

d. These are just a few examples. There are many other ways to help the environment. For example, we can plant trees and clean up our beaches and parks. We need to work together to make our planet a better place.

GRADE 11 - UNIT 9

Question 16.

- a. First, Bullying is when someone hurts another person on purpose. This can happen at school, online, or in the workplace. Bullying can cause serious problems for the person being bullied. They may feel sad and hopeless. Sometimes they don't want to go to school or work. In some cases, bullying can even lead to depression and suicide.
- b. These are just a few examples of the many social issues people face every day. It's important to talk about these problems and find solutions so that everyone can live a happy and healthy life.
- c. People today face many social issues. Some of these are overpopulation, poverty, and crime. In this article, I want to talk about three other important social issues: bullying, body shaming, and peer pressure.
- d. Peer pressure is when people try to get others to do something they don't want to do. This is often a problem for young people. For example, a teenager might feel pressure to smoke cigarettes or drink alcohol because their friends are doing it. Peer pressure can be very hard to resist. It can cause stress and anxiety.
- e. Body shaming is the second issues, it is when someone makes fun of another person's body. This can happen if a person is too thin, too fat, or has some other physical difference. Body shaming can hurt people very much. It can make them feel bad about themselves. Sometimes it can even lead to eating disorders or other health problems.

Question 17.

- a. Yours faithfully,
- b. Another issue that I would like to highlight is body shaming. Many people, especially young women, are made to feel bad about their bodies because they do not look like the models in magazines. This can lead to serious mental health problems such as depression and eating disorders. Magazines should be encouraged to use more realistic images of people.
- c. Dear Editor,
- d. I am writing to express my concern about the growing problem of overpopulation. The world's population is increasing rapidly and this is causing many problems, such as a lack of resources and damage to the environment. I think it is important for governments to take action to control population growth.

e. Finally, I would like to mention the issue of poverty. It is unacceptable that so many people around the world live in extreme poverty and do not have enough food to eat or clean water to drink. More needs to be done to help these people and to reduce inequality between rich and poor.

f. I hope you will consider publishing my letter.

g. Peer pressure is another big problem that affects young people today. They often feel under pressure to do things that they do not want to do, such as smoking or taking drugs. Schools need to do more to educate young people about the dangers of these activities and to help them resist peer pressure.

Question 17.

Vietnam has taken various steps to improve gender equality and correct societal inequities. To begin, legal reforms have been implemented to ensure that all genders have equal rights and opportunities, such as laws supporting equal pay and addressing gender-based violence. Furthermore, educational activities have been launched to fight gender stereotypes and promote gender-sensitive curricula. Economic empowerment programs for women, such as microfinance and entrepreneurial assistance, have been critical in increasing financial independence and closing the gender gap in the workforce. These initiatives not only promote a more inclusive and just society, but they also help to boost economic growth by maximizing the potential of all individuals, regardless of gender. Finally, by promoting gender equality, Vietnam creates a more affluent and equitable future for all of its residents.
