

Read the following advertisement and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the option that best fits each of the numbered blanks.

Parenting in the Digital Age

Parents (1) _____ many challenges when raising children who are growing up in the digital age. The generation gap, which is caused by (2) _____ in technology use and values, often leads to misunderstandings and conflicts within families. Many parents find it difficult (3) _____ effectively with their children about these issues.

At Family Harmony Workshop, we offer practical solutions that help parents and children improve their communication skills. Learn how to manage screen time wisely, encourage children to participate in outdoor activities, and respect different viewpoints that emerge between generations.

Understanding (4) _____ is essential for creating a peaceful family environment.

This workshop is designed for parents who want to handle the generation gap (5) _____ compassion and understanding. Don't miss this chance to join a supportive community (6) _____ on building stronger family bonds and creating a positive environment for all family members.

Register today at www.familyworkshop.com or call 123-456-789 to secure your spot.

[Adapted from <https://sununijunior.edu.vn>]

- | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Question 1: A. solve | B. face | C. take | D. accept |
| Question 2: A. differently | B. differ | C. different | D. differences |
| Question 3: A. to communicate | B. communicating | C. communicate | D. communicated |
| Question 4: A. communication intergenerational barriers | B. intergenerational barriers communication | C. intergenerational communication barriers | D. communication barriers intergenerational |
| Question 5: A. by | B. with | C. for | D. to |
| Question 6: A. focusing | B. to focus | C. for focusing | D. focused |

Read the following leaflet and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the option that best fits each of the numbered blanks from 7 to 12.

☀ "Bridging Generations: A Family Guide"

Discovering Common Ground

Some teenagers feel that they have little in common with their parents. While some parents (7) _____ technology, others believe the world is simply changing too fast. Instead of focusing on the gap, families can explore shared interests and values.

Changing Views on Respect

Generations may hold a different (8) _____ of what it means to be respectful. While older adults may value obedience, younger ones might associate respect with being heard. Understanding these views helps reduce unnecessary tension.

Steps Toward Connection

Small actions like spending time together or talking openly can help. However, when conflicts arise, it's better not to (9) _____. Listening calmly can lead to real progress.

Growing Together

(10) _____ age or background, both sides can learn from each other. Learning to accept the habits of the (11) _____ group is the first step toward harmony. A growing level of (12) _____ and openness benefits the whole family.

- Question 7: A. blame B. argue C. conflict D. complain

- Question 8: A. amount B. deal C. sense D. load
 Question 9: A. go through B. attitude to C. blow up D. take away Question 10: A. With the aid of B. As long as C. Despite D. Regardless of Question 11: A. another B. the other C. others D. each Question 12: A. patience B. competitive C. curious D. confident

Mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best arrangement of utterances or sentences to make a meaningful exchange or text in each of the following questions.

Question 13:

- a. Daughter: But you can't force me to dress like it's 1990! I want to express myself!
 b. Daughter: Why do we always argue about my clothes? I just have a different taste from yours!
 c. Mother: Because I believe your outfits break the traditional values we should respect!

Your answer: _____

c-a-b

Question 14: a. Father: I just want to give you advice. From my traditional view, music isn't a stable career.

b. Father: I understand, but think carefully. Life is not just about passion — it's also about responsibility.

c. Son: Why do we always argue about my future job? I want to follow my dream of becoming a musician.

d. Son: But I don't want to follow a path that doesn't suit me. I need freedom to decide.

A. d-a-c-b

B. c-a-d-b

C. d-b-a-c

D. c-d-a-b

Question 15:

Dear daughter,

a. Let's talk soon, not as father and daughter who disagree, but as two people who care about each other.

b. You are growing up and becoming more independent, and I respect that — but I also hope you understand the responsibilities that come with freedom.

c. I believe we can understand each other better if we both take time to listen and communicate, instead of just arguing.

d. I know we come from different generations, so it's normal that we don't always see things the same way.

e. Sometimes I act strictly because I want to protect you, not because I don't trust you.

Love,

Dad

A. b-c-d-e-a

B. d-e-c-b-a

C. c-d-a-e-b

D. d-a-b-c-e

Question 16:

a. I know how to use computers, tablets, and other technology very well.

b. Younger generations also have knowledge that can help older people.

c. Helping each other is a great way for both generations to improve their lives.

d. I could also share with them new music, fashion trends, and interesting apps.

e. I can teach older people how to use these devices to make their lives easier.

[Adapted from ilearn smart world]

A. b-d-e-a-c

B. b-a-e-d-c

C. b-a-d-e-c

D. b-e-a-d-c

Question 17:

a. When parents hold traditional views on chores, careers, or freedom, but teens want independence and self-expression, tension naturally arises.

b. Through empathy, open dialogue, and a willingness to bridge differences, families can transform these challenges into opportunities for closer connection.

c. Such disagreements can lead to misunderstandings and distance unless both sides listen, respect each other's point of view, and adapt.

d. Every family experiences a generation gap when parents and children grow up in different cultural eras and hold different beliefs.

e. Teens, also called digital natives, navigate social media and apps with ease, while many parents—known as digital immigrants—struggle with these tools, creating communication barriers.

A. d-c-b-e-a

B. d-e-a-c-b

C. d-c-a-e-b

D. a-c-b-e-d

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the option that best fits each of the numbered blanks.

A Mother's Journey

The generation gap, which many experts see as a big challenge in modern families, has become even wider with the rise of digital technology. Mrs. Lan, a mother whose teenagers often used their smartphones a lot, (18) _____.

After going to a workshop, Mrs. Lan understood that the teenagers she worried about belonged to a generation whose way of communicating is very different from their parents'. The workshop, which was planned by experts in child psychology, (19) _____.

Encouraged by this idea, Mrs. Lan started to watch her children's activities more carefully. She spent time watching videos her daughter shared, many of which were made to celebrate friendships and special moments. Her son, (20) _____.

Knowing how important these activities were, (21) _____. By closing the gap, she built trust, which is very important in relationships that face challenges because of generation differences.

Although they still sometimes disagreed, Mrs. Lan's patience and effort to understand her children made a big difference. (22) _____.

Question 18:

- A. initially there were questions about why they used technology so much in their daily lives
- B. used to accept their behavior without asking questions or learning what they were doing
- C. frequently urge them to focus on studying instead of sharing her concerns about screen time
- D. at first thought their habits were unhealthy and ignored the benefits of online communication

Question 19:

- A. presenting social media mainly as a useful way to strengthen friendships and share feelings
- B. showed how social media could be a useful tool for expressing feelings and connecting with others
- C. which explains why teenagers use social media mainly for entertainment rather than social connection
- D. emphasized how social media helping young people learn new skills and stay informed

Question 20: mệnh đề quan hệ/ mệnh đề rút gọn

- A. being someone who enjoyed online gaming, shared with her how such games provided a way to relieve pressure after classes
- B. whom spent a lot of time on online games, explaining that these activities helped him to unwind after stressful school days
- C. that online gaming was his favorite pastime and said it helped him relax whenever school was tough
- D. told her how these games helped him relax after a long day at school, whose hobby was often playing online games

Question 21:

- A. Mrs. Lan was more open and honest before her efforts to understand the conversation
- B. efforts to understand her children have encouraged more open communication
- C. Mrs. Lan's children tried to have more open conversations before she understood them
- D. Mrs. Lan encouraged open talks, something that rarely happened before she tried

Question 22:

- A. The generation gap, once seen as too hard to fix, can become smaller with empathy and communication — qualities that are very important in any family trying to adjust to a fast-changing world
- B. Such efforts demonstrate that although disagreements still exist, understanding and open communication help families bridge the gap completely and try to adapt to a rapidly changing world
- C. Generational differences have been significantly improved by important actions in imposing and guiding important directions that make families harmonious
- D. The connection between generations, although sometimes conflicting, empathy and honest dialogue help increase misunderstandings between parents and children

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions from 23 to 30.

Problems are a part of life. Arguments can happen with friends and family over a variety of issues. What is important, though, is how you deal with problems.

Arguments with friends can make you feel bad or even angry. It is important to explain your feelings without blaming the other person. Share how you feel by using "I" sentences. For example, don't say "You are always telling me what to do," but "I feel annoyed when you don't listen to me." To solve a problem, you must also listen to how the other person feels and accept that he or she may see a problem differently. Showing your understanding of the other person makes them want to solve the problem. In the end, what is important is to find a solution and become friends again.

Families can also have problems. The generation gap can cause parents and children to see things differently, making both feel confused or disappointed. Remember that parents and older family members have years of life experience and want the best for you, so listen to what they say.

When you have a problem, try to set a time to sit down and talk quietly. Breathe and count to ten if you start to feel angry or anxious. Be prepared not to get exactly what you want but to find a solution everyone can agree on. We value our families and can solve any problems through caring and communication.

[Adapted from Bright]

Question 23: The word blaming in paragraph 2 is OPPOSITE in meaning to _____.

- A. complimenting B. helping C. accusing D. ignoring Question 24: The word them in paragraph 2 refers to _____.

- A. family members B. friends C. the other person D. feelings

Question 25: The word disappointed in paragraph 3 could be best replaced by _____.

- A. hopeful B. upset C. delighted D. hesitant

Question 26: Which of the following best paraphrases the underlined sentence in paragraph 4?

- A. It's crucial to compromise for a solution that satisfies everyone involved.
B. Always prioritise what you want and encourage others to agree with you.
C. Insist on your preferences to ensure others find them agreeable.
D. Ensure all parties get exactly what they desire for a fair solution.

Question 27: According to the passage, which of the following best helps in dealing with problems?

- A. Avoiding conversations about the generation gap B. Always trying to get what you want
C. Setting aside time to talk calmly D. Ignoring family members' advice

Question 28: Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?

- A. The generation gap only causes confusion in families.
B. Using "I" sentences is likely to worsen conflicts with others.
C. Conflicts can arise in families because of different perspectives.
D. Only by talking honestly can family conflicts be resolved.

Question 29: In which paragraph does the writer mention the impact of age on perspectives in family issues?

- A. Paragraph 1 B. Paragraph 2 C. Paragraph 3 D. Paragraph 4

Question 30: In which paragraph does the writer illustrate a piece of advice by using examples?

- A. Paragraph 1 B. Paragraph 2 C. Paragraph 3 D. Paragraph 4

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions from 31 to 40.

Throughout history, there have always been conflicts between parents and their teenage children. Here are some of the main reasons and explanations.

[I] No matter how old their teenage children are, most parents still treat them like small kids. [II] As they try to help their children to discover the surrounding world, parents strongly believe they know what is best for their children. [III] However, as children grow up, they want to be more independent, form their own opinions and make their own decisions. [IV]

One common area of conflict is the clothes children want to wear. Parents may think that these clothes break rules and norms of society or distract them from schoolwork. What is more, some teens want expensive brand name clothes, which can lead to a financial burden on their parents because many parents cannot afford the high prices.

Another source of conflict is the way children spend their free time. Parents may think that their children should spend their time in a more useful way rather than playing computer games or chatting online. But children do not always understand the way their parents do.

Conflicts also arise from different interests between parents and their children. Some parents may try to impose their choices of university or career on their children regardless of their children's preferences. Actually, the list of conflicts seems to be endless. Open communication can really help to build a bridge of trust and understanding between parents and their teenage children.

[Adapted from C21-Smart]

Question 31: Where in paragraph does the following sentence best fit?

They don't feel comfortable when their parents keep treating them like little kids.

- A. [I] B. [II] C. [III] D. [IV]

Question 32: The word them in paragraph 2 refers to _____.

- A. parents B. teachers C. children D. clothes

Question 33: What does the sentence "Some parents may try to impose their choices of university or career on their children regardless of their children's preferences" in paragraph 5 most likely mean?

- A. Some parents want their children to consider career choices that they believe are more suitable and reliable.
B. Some parents pressure their children into accepting certain academic or job paths that may go against their personal interests.
C. Some parents think their children's decisions are immature and try to give better suggestions.
D. Some parents influence their children by offering advice about education and work based on their own life experience.

Question 34: What does the word burden in paragraph 2 most likely mean?

- A. an opportunity for improvement B. a source of financial stress
C. a traditional value D. a reward from parenting

Question 35: According to the passage, why do some parents feel stressed about the clothes their children want to wear?

- A. Because most parents believe their children should always wear traditional outfits.
B. Because their children insist on choosing clothes that go against the school's dress code.
C. Because the clothes children choose often reflect negative social values.
D. Because they think the clothes are inappropriate and may cause distraction from schoolwork.

Question 36: Which of the following best summarizes paragraph 3?

- A. Parents believe that playing computer games is not a good use of time.
B. Some teenagers prefer chatting online in their free time.
C. Parents and children often disagree on how free time should be spent.
D. Children do not always understand their parents' views on leisure activities.

Question 37: The phrase build a bridge of trust in paragraph 4 is closest in meaning to:

- A. boost emotional gap B. enhance common trust
C. create mutual trust D. damage shared trust

Question 38: Which of the following is NOT mentioned as a reason for conflict?

- A. Differences in clothing preferences B. Disagreements about future careers
C. Conflicts about bedtime routines D. Different views on how to spend free time Question 39: What can be inferred about parents from the passage?

- A. Most parents still believe they know what is best for their children.
B. Open communication may help reduce conflicts in the family.
C. Teenagers want to make decisions but often make poor choices.
D. Parents usually choose a university or career that matches their child's interest.

Question 40: Which of the following best summarises the whole passage?

- A. Parents and teens face conflict due to changing fashion, online habits, and career pressure, but clear communication can improve their relationship.

- B. Teenage rebellion is natural, but it causes emotional distance that most parents cannot repair.
- C. Family conflicts are mostly caused by society and school pressure, not by personal misunderstandings.
- D. While teenagers seek independence, their parents encourage them to conform to social expectations to maintain family reputation.

----- The end -----