I. LISTENING (15 points)

Part 1. Questions 1 – 5 (5 points)

For questions 1 – 5, listen to the recording TWICE and fill in each gap with ONE WORD from the recording. Write your answers in the corresponding numbered boxes.

Teenagers are using social media in a plethora of really positive ways. There are groups, there are clubs out there to address anything that a teen has interest with. I see a lot of kids facing (1) _____ with depression, anxiety, and they're able to connect. I think it's incredibly important that we're using social media appropriately. We're seeing teens architect their Instagram photos using filters to create (2) _____ that are not aligned with who they really are, but they're generating likes. It's a social currency and it's addictive. Sometimes teens make bad decisions and they can post things on social media that they don't realize that exists forever, as adults. Employers look at social media and what are you posting on there?

Kids aren't thinking about those kinds of things. So we do want to supervise our child's social media (3) _____. Simply asking them what their social media represents, the values that they want represented and to ask them about the (4) _____ that they post.

Why is it important? What's interesting about it? Coming from a place of genuine, authentic interest, right? Not concern, just interest. We start that conversation. We keep it open ended. We keep it (5) _____. We check in often and we invite that conversation.

Part 1: (5 points)

For questions 46 – 50, read the passage and choose the best answer (A, B, C or D) for each question according to the passage. Write your answers in the corresponding numbered boxes.

Choosing a career is one of the most important decisions for teenagers. It helps them learn about themselves and their future. Many things affect their choice, like what they enjoy, their skills, and advice from family or friends. Teenagers need to think about these factors and make a choice that feels right for them.

Teenagers should choose careers that match their interests and talents. If they enjoy art, they can explore jobs like graphic design. If they are good at science, they might want to be researchers or engineers. Knowing their strengths helps them find a job they will enjoy and find success in.

Sometimes, family and society influence career choices. Parents may want their children to follow certain paths, like medicine or law. Teenagers should listen to advice but also follow their own dreams. Schools can help by offering courses or programs in different fields.

Teenagers face challenges when choosing careers. They might feel pressure from parents or worry about making the wrong choice. Many don't know about new jobs, like working in technology or the environment. It's important to learn about different options and understand that career paths can change over time.

Parents, teachers, and mentors can help teenagers by giving advice and resources. Teenagers should try activities like internships or volunteering to find out what they enjoy. Learning about exciting fields like robotics or renewable energy can also guide them. Choosing a career is a step toward their future, and they should see it as an opportunity to grow and learn.

46. Which of the following best summarizes the passage?

- A. Career choices based on societal and family pressures.
- B. Careers chosen by interests, talents, and external advice.
- C. Parents ensuring children pick high-paying jobs.
- D. Schools enforcing specific career paths.

47. Which of the following is NOT mentioned in the passage regarding teenagers and career choices?

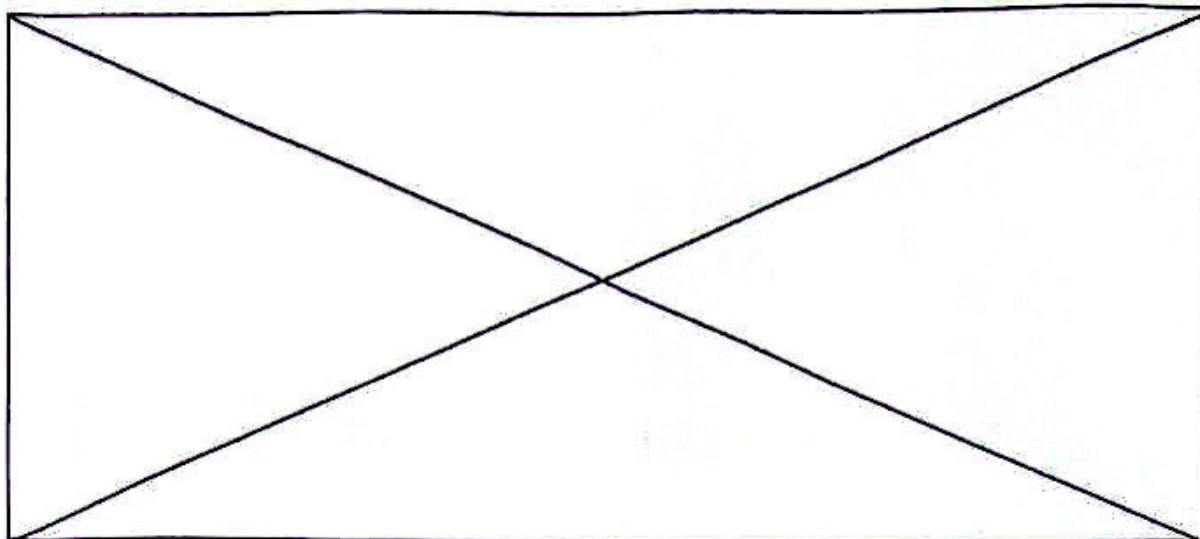

- A. Teenagers often face pressure from parents when making career decisions.
- B. Schools can introduce teenagers to diverse career fields through specialized programs.
- C. Teenagers may worry about choosing the wrong career path.
- D. Teenagers should always prioritize advice from societal expectations.

48. How does the passage describe the role of schools in helping teenagers with career choices?

- A. Schools should enforce specific career paths for success.
- B. Schools can provide courses to explore diverse fields.
- C. Schools should focus solely on academics.
- D. Schools should prepare students for traditional careers.

49. Based on the passage, why might teenagers feel uncertain about their career choices?

- A. They struggle to identify their unique skills and interests.
- B. They are only aware of career choices that existed in their parents' time.
- C. They receive conflicting advice from family, society, and school mentors.
- D. They worry about environmental and world challenges affecting their options.

50. What are some activities suggested in the passage to help teenagers explore career options?

- A. Participating in internships and volunteering in different fields.
- B. Taking mandatory courses in robotics and renewable energy.
- C. Avoiding any advice from parents and teachers.
- D. Focusing only on academic achievements.

For questions 51 – 55, read the passage and choose the best answer (A, B, C or D) for each question according to the passage. Write your answers in the corresponding numbered boxes.

Halong Bay, located in northeast Vietnam, is celebrated for its emerald waters, towering limestone cliffs, and nearly 2,000 islands, making it one of the world's most stunning destinations. Its name, "Halong", meaning "Descending Dragon", comes from a legend where dragons descended to create the islands as a natural defense against invaders. The bay's unique geography and captivating landscape have earned it a spot as a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

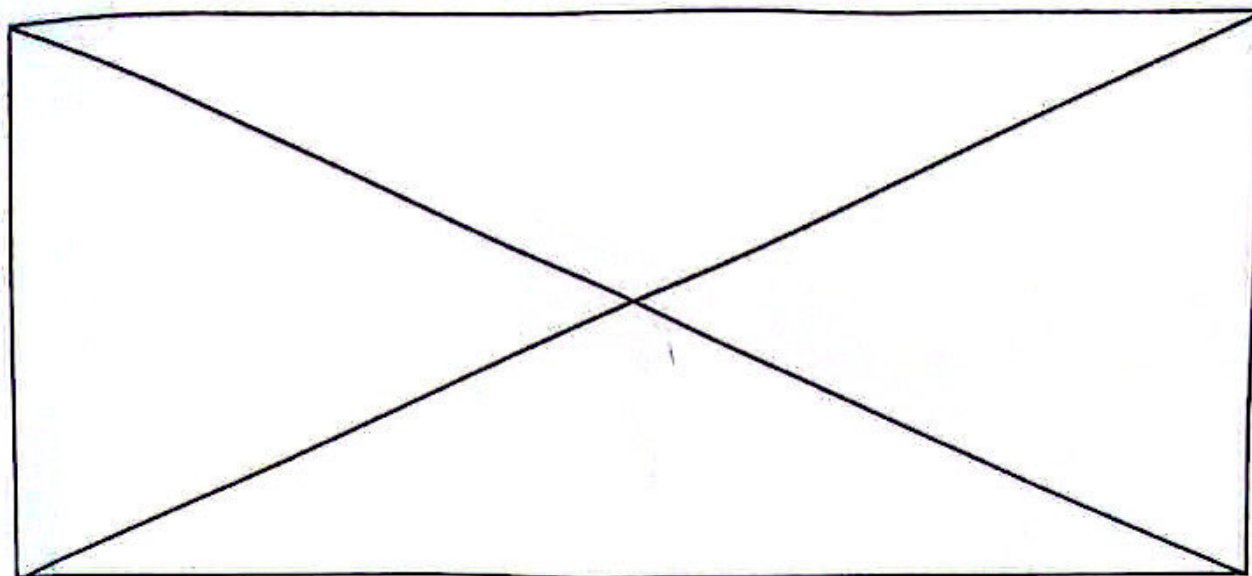

Beyond its beauty, Halong Bay hosts a rich ecosystem with limestone caves, coral reefs, and mangrove forests that support diverse wildlife. The area is home to rare plants and animals, both underwater and on land, making it an important region for ecological preservation. The delicate balance of nature here has drawn attention for conservation efforts to protect its biodiversity.

Halong Bay's ecosystem is diverse, featuring limestone caves, coral reefs, mangrove forests, and rare wildlife both underwater and on land. Conservation efforts target the preservation of this rich biodiversity, combating challenges such as pollution and the impacts of tourism.

The bay is also steeped in history and folklore. Legends tell of dragons shaping the islands, while archaeological evidence suggests human activity dating back thousands of years. It has been a hub for trade routes and naval conflicts, linking it to Vietnam's cultural and historical identity. These stories add depth to the experience of visiting Halong Bay, connecting tourists with its unique heritage.

Halong Bay has become a major tourist destination, offering activities like boat cruises, cave exploration, and hiking on islands such as Cat Ba. Key attractions include Hang Sung Sot (Surprise Cave), Tuan Chau Island with its resorts and beaches, and Dau Go Cave with its fascinating formations. These spots highlight the bay's incredible natural features and cultural significance.

However, Halong Bay faces environmental challenges, including pollution from boats, over-tourism, and climate change. Efforts are underway to promote sustainable tourism by reducing waste, controlling visitor numbers, and encouraging eco-friendly practices. Preserving Halong Bay is vital to maintaining its beauty and ecological value for future generations, ensuring it remains a symbol of natural and cultural wonder.

51. Which of the following best summarizes the passage?
- A. International heritage site with biodiversity and cultural legacy.
 - B. Historic trading post linked to naval battles.
 - C. Popular for resorts and beaches.
 - D. Named after folklore about dragons forming defenses.
52. Which of the following statements best reflects the ecological and conservation highlights of Halong Bay?
- A. Halong Bay has limited biodiversity.
 - B. Conservation efforts protect rare species.
 - C. Tourism and pollution are no threat due to measures.
 - D. Ecological value lies in coral reefs and mangroves.
53. Which aspect of Halong Bay highlights its connection to Vietnam's cultural identity?
- A. Its historic involvement in maritime trade and military conflicts.
 - B. Its scenic limestone cliffs and turquoise waters that define its landscape.
 - C. Its archaeological findings that document ancient marine ecosystems.
 - D. Its flourishing tourism industry that attracts millions of visitors annually.
54. How does Halong Bay's tourism industry contribute to its global appeal?
- A. It attracts millions of visitors each year, showcasing the bay's natural beauty and cultural richness.
 - B. It provides a platform for international studies on marine conservation efforts.
 - C. It limits access to certain areas to protect the bay's ecosystems and heritage.
 - D. It primarily focuses on luxury resort development to accommodate high-end travelers.
55. Which of the following statements is NOT TRUE according to the passage?
- A. Halong Bay contains close to 2,000 islands scattered across its waters.
 - B. Archaeological studies reveal human settlements in the area dating back thousands of years.
 - C. Environmental challenges like excessive tourism and pollution are non-existent in Halong Bay.
 - D. The term "Halong" translates to "Descending Dragon" in Vietnamese.
