SECTION D. WRITING (60 points)

Part 1:

Key points:

- Man has done more harm than good to the Earth.
- Man has destroyed some wild species both directly and indirectly
- Some species survive, but some have gone extinct due to human activities

- The only protection of animals done by man is only useful to man's survival, man kills animals that cause harm and inconvenience to him. -> creating the imbalance in the ecology.

Part 2:

Striking features/trends:

- sailing attracts more people from older age groups than younger ones
- basketball attracts more people from younger age groups than older ones
- more men take part in these two sports than women.
- the gap between the number of men and women taking part in basketball is negligible in the age groups of 25-34 and 35-44

Sample:*Sample answer

These charts show participation in sailing and basketball in Australia, by age group. Just over 70,000 people go sailing, of whom over two thirds are men. Basketball has 160,000 participants. Again, the majority are men, although women form a much higher proportion than in the case of sailing.

About 8,000 people aged under 25 go sailing, rising to 23,000 in the 25-34 group. The numbers of women then decline gradually. Although fewer men in the 35-44 group go sailing, the decline is reversed, and the number peaks at 18,000 in the 45 and over group. Total participation is higher than in any other age group, though only slightly above the 25-34 group.

Basketball is a much younger sport, with the greatest participation occurring in the 18-24 age group, when the total is over 70,000 people. The number drops in each succeeding age group, although the decline is less marked in the case of women. Very few people aged 45 or over play basketball.
